

Improving Customer Ratings

This project examines the shortcomings of popular consumer rating websites/apps, such as Yelp, Trip Advisor, and Google, and suggests an improved system that is both easier to provide reviews and to glean information from them.

The product of this work is likely to be a short essay, and could possibly be the seed for a simple and effective rating app for phones.

